Bright lights in the tower serve to remind us of our ever busy faculty and students.

from many facets

The lives of some 1100 persons revolve around this Campus. We come here to teach, to study, and to learn. The traditional structures—the Tower, the Tunnel, and Howard Hall welcome us, and these along with our rich heritage of social events give our campus its individualism.

Our evening at the Prom will never be forgotten.

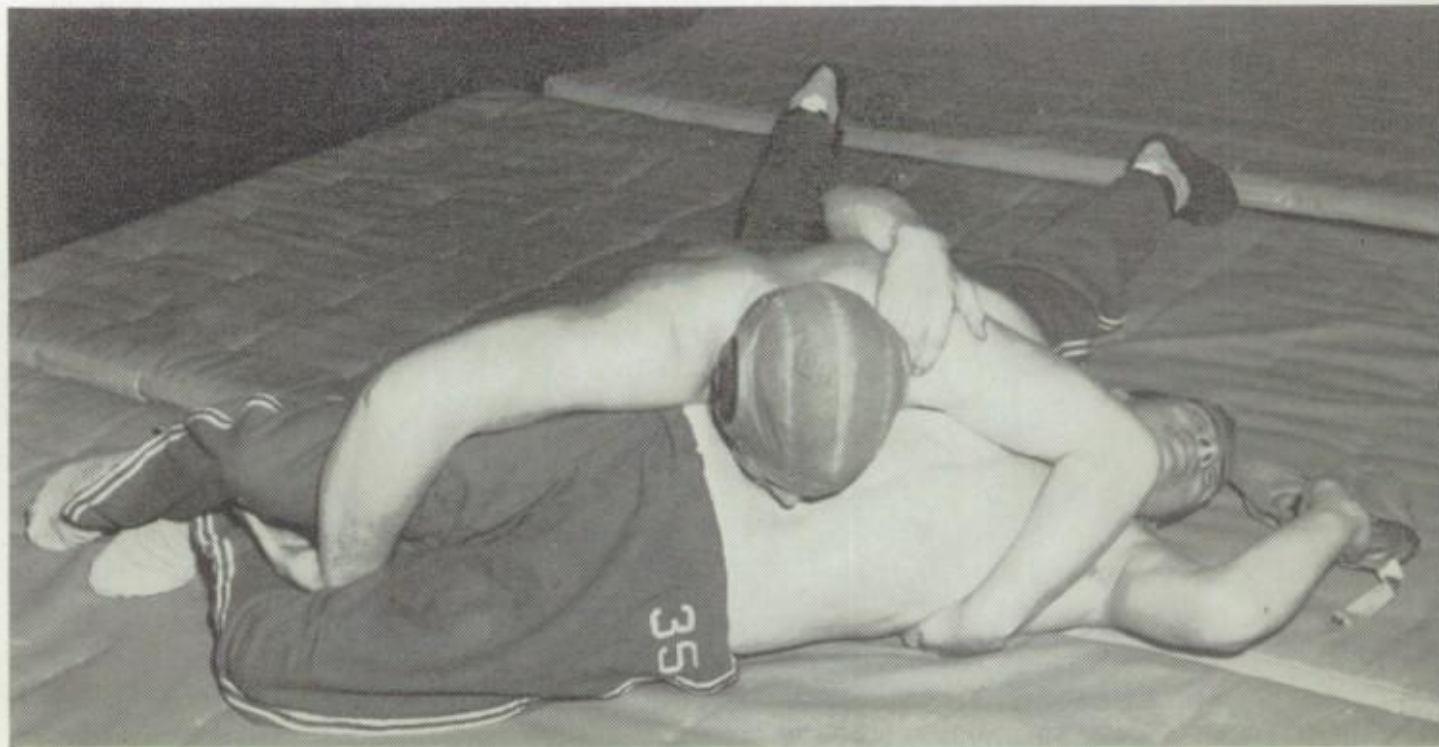

The traditional fellowship of the Christmas breakfast is enjoyed by all.

the old and the new

The friendly smile is so important for a good beginning.

Upper and under classmen alike share in our old traditions and together participate in the forming of new ones. This year the stoplights on Walnut street and our wrestling program were two of the most noticeable additions to our school scene.

The safety of all students is uppermost.

we have enriching moments

We enjoy the harmony of the fellowship shared with others. Our sense of duty toward our fellow man is strengthened by worshipping, playing, and working together. Through our close association with others, we become mature and respected citizens. Thus, we learn to orient our lives to goals which will direct us to a life of understanding and faith.

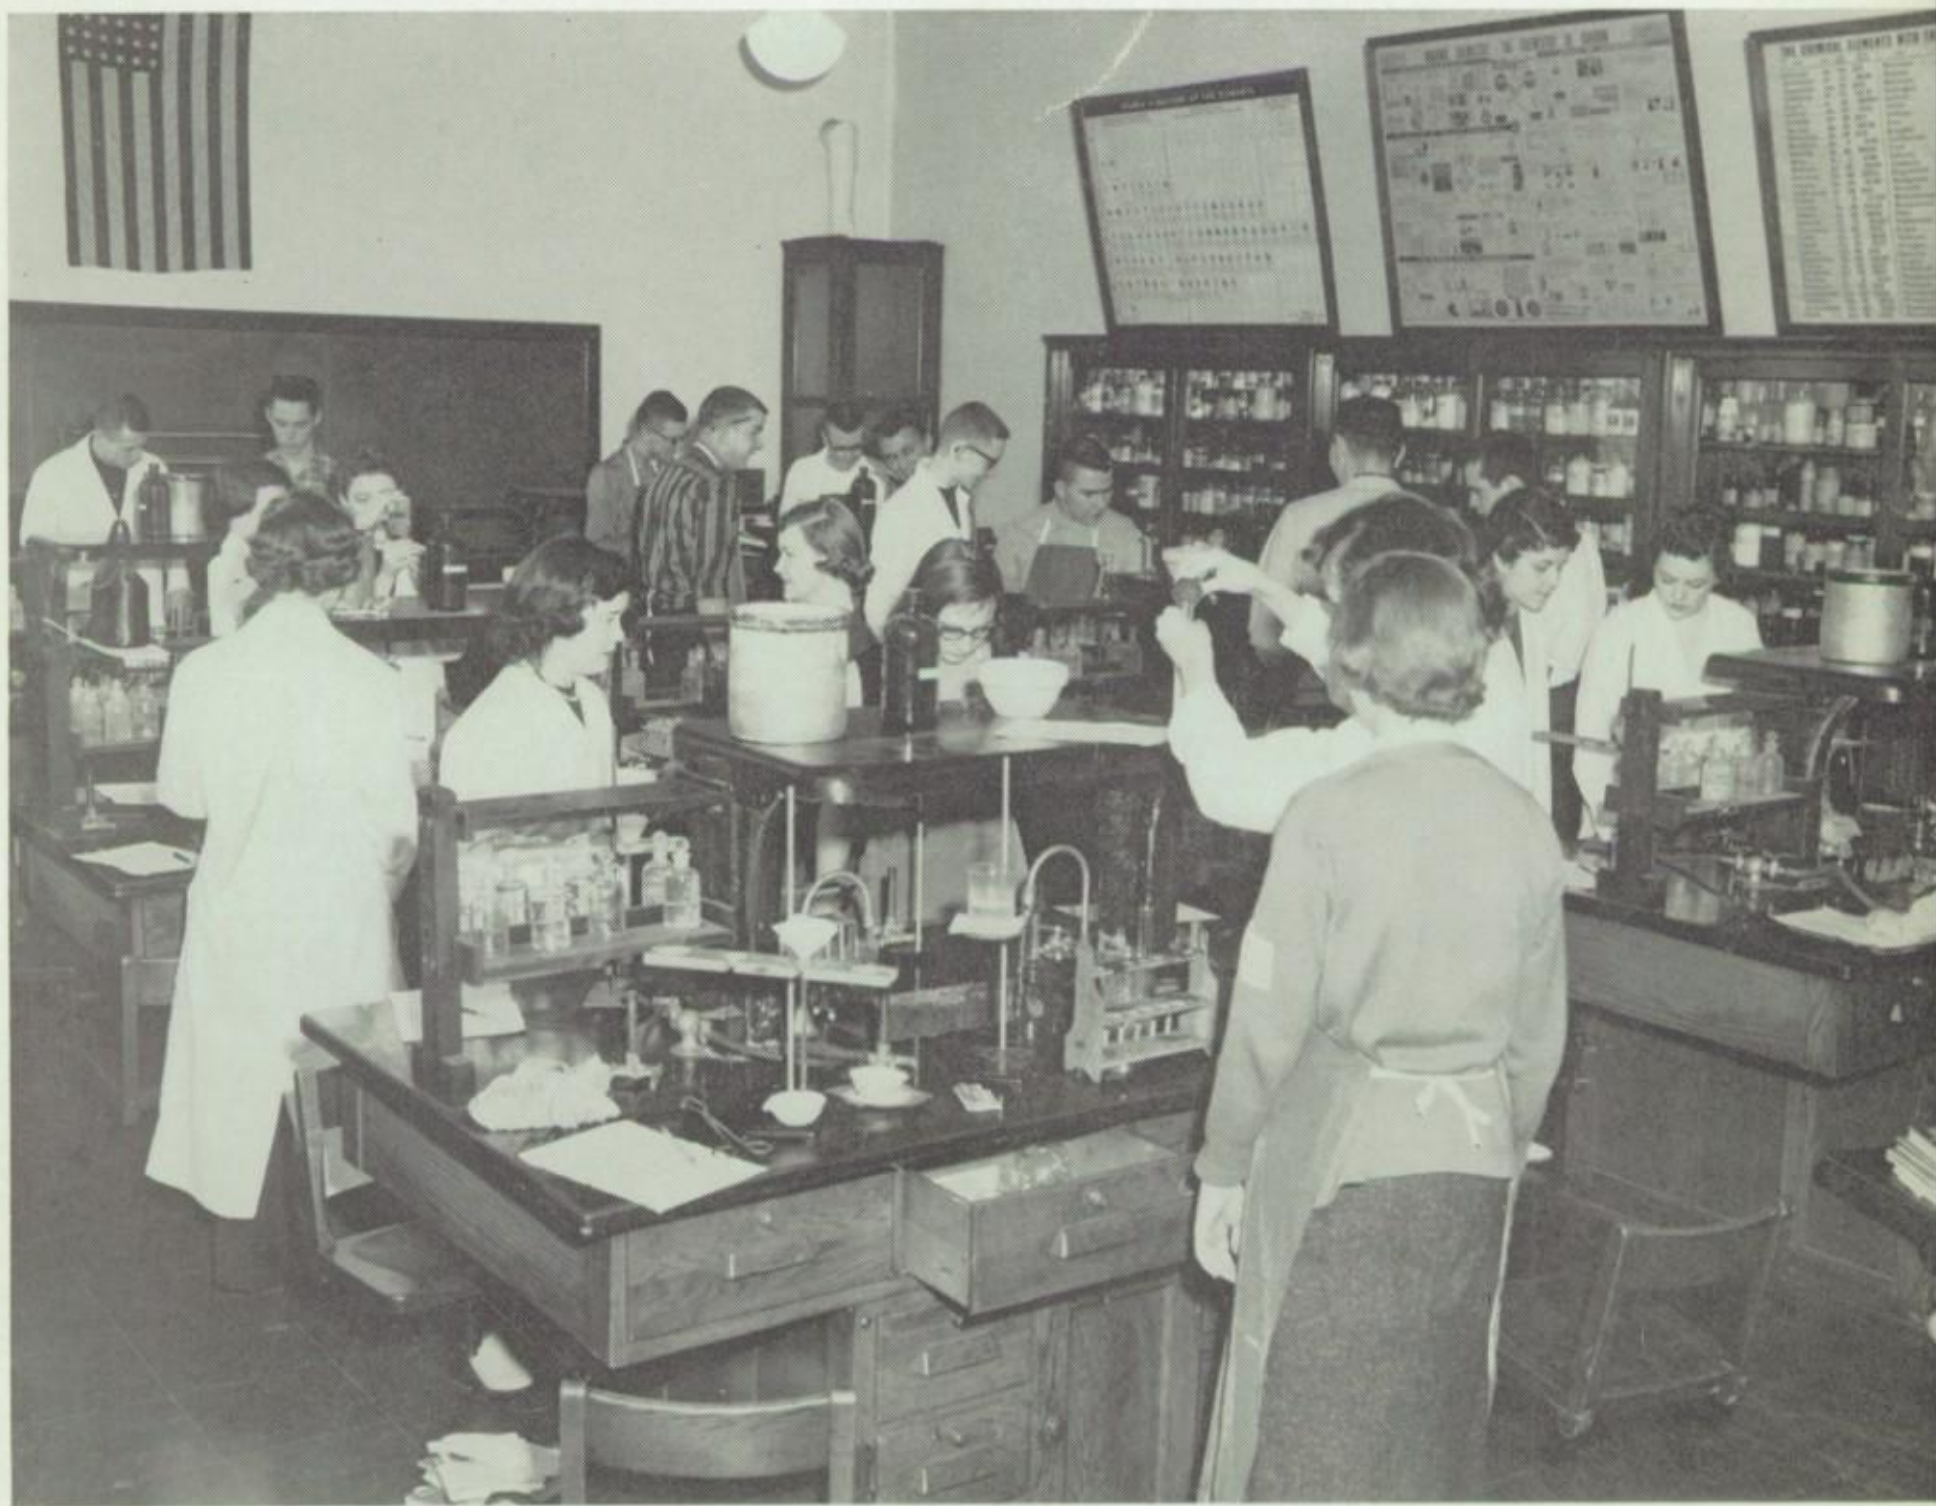

We find strength and a deeping by helping others.

We also find a spiritual need in our lives.

education is our highest goal

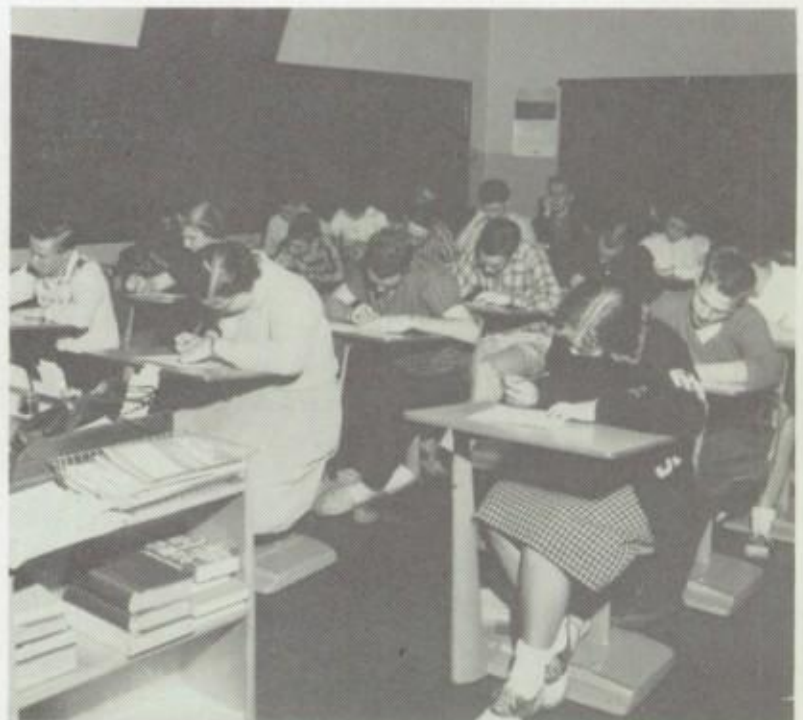

We learn the fundamentals through experience.

Finally, after weeks of work, a student displays a smart looking dress.

Education is books, teachers, classes, and a place to learn. Of these, we are fortunate in having both quantity and quality. However, we must realize that in the final analysis, the responsibility of learning is rooted deep within ourselves.

English is one of the corner-stones of a good education.

various ways

Our counselors help us in preparing for the future.

This education may be difficult to attain or it may come easily. With the aid of our able counselors and our varied choice of curriculum, some of us select interests and settle down to learn more about them.

Many girls, on the business curriculum, prepare for their future.

Mathematics and social science complete the foundation of our education.

there is depth

Our education is supplemented by extra curricular activities in which we are abounding. They range from the exuberant basketball crowds and coke breaks to the Hi-Y's annual Autumn Nocturne dance and the prom.

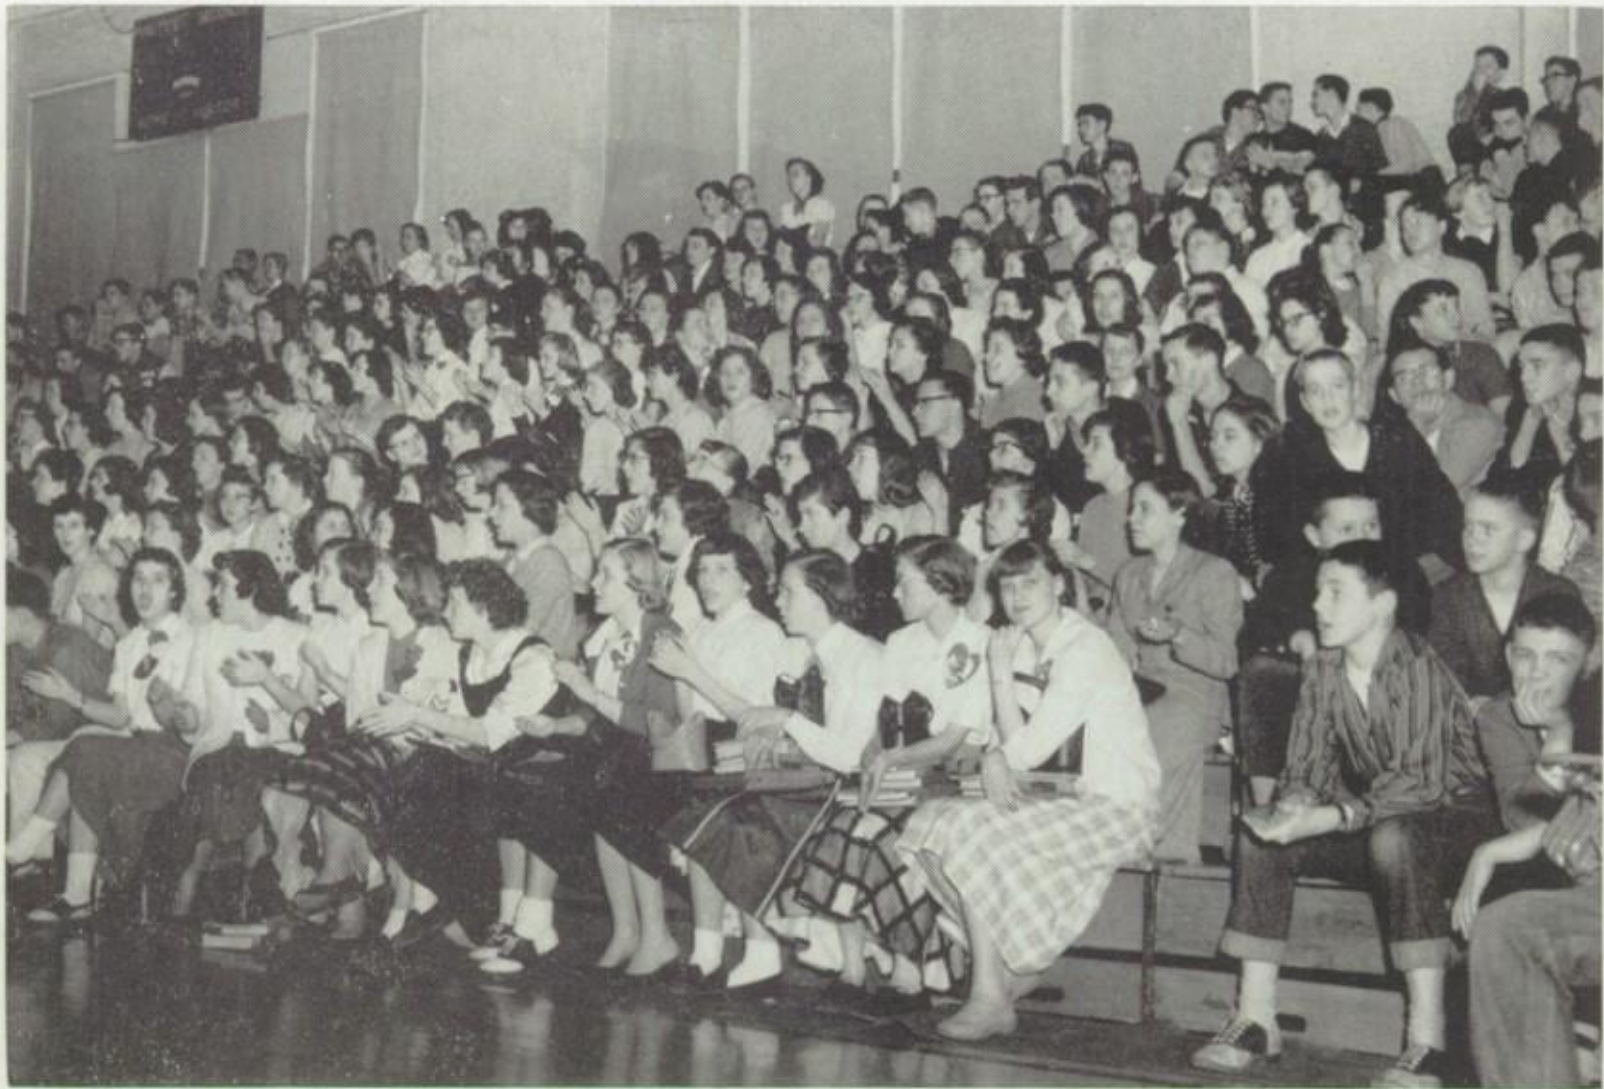

We pay special honor to the mothers of our team.

in personal experiences

Grade cards are a special topic of conversation.

these form a common bond

The pep sessions prepare us to cheer the Hot Dogs on to victory.

With the closing of the school year, we begin to realize and appreciate the value of the experiences and opportunities in which we have shared. All of the memories of the year pleasantly drift through our thoughts. We are somewhat saddened to leave these happy memories; but, at the same time, we look forward to the future with an eager anticipation.

administration

Our superintendent, Mr. Sam Woodruff is one of the most important persons in the school system. It is his job to co-ordinate all the parts of the school system so that they will function smoothly and efficiently.

board of education

Ever busy, but seldom seen, the members of the school board are Sam Woodruff, Superintendent; William Lucas; Ralph Miller; Richard Percy, President; Orville Gunyon, Secretary; and Reginald Moorehouse.

These men have been responsible for conducting the affairs of the city schools.

faculty

Mr. Charles Caress came to F.H.S. as principal when the class of '58 were juniors. Through these two years he has never been too busy to listen to our varied problems and to lend a helping hand. We, as seniors, are proud to have had a chance to have worked with him, and we are sure next year's seniors will feel the same way.

Four of the best known people of F.H.S. are: Mrs. Grant Wacnitz—Dean of Girls; Wayne Gregg—Assistant Principal; Robert Ayres—Dean of Boys; Dale Shanks—Attendance Officer. They are a great help and assistance in running our school smoothly and in helping with our numerous problems.

seniors

The class of 1958 looks back over their lives in F.H.S. with mixed emotions.

As eighth graders we were confused and mystified by the many new experiences we encountered.

The freshman year brought biology field trips, going to the dances, and our own track queen.

As sophomores we were upper-classmen at last and took an active part in the clubs and activities of the school.

During the junior year we visited the State Legislature, sponsored our prom, "Southern Splendor," and wore our green and white sweaters.

Our senior year was a blur of events. Among them were the Big Broadcast, sports, "Macbeth," convocations, trig., queen elections, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," parties, essays, pep sessions, "Autumn Nocturne" and finally senior week, class day, Baccalaureate, and Commencement.

Nine years ago, when Mr. Aden Long came to Frankfort High School to be our Band Director he had only a sixty-five piece band. Since then the interest in music has grown stronger and the band has grown to a great ninety-three piece band. Also, during those years the band has not only given concerts at Frankfort but at Crownpoint, Indiana, and Cleveland, Ohio, to mention a couple.

Besides the usual activities of football, basketball, concerts, and contests, the Band and Orchestra parent organization has worked during a period of seven years raising money toward the purchase of new band uniforms.

senior class play

Stuck stage doors, a lost pawn ticket, a bashful dog, French tutoring, an engagement, a lawsuit, and forgotten lines — all of these things were the ingredients that made up the mixture of this year's senior class play, "GENTLEMEN PREFER BLONDES."

Under the direction of Mrs. Martha Redmon and student directors Joyce Holland and Pat Hill, the senior actresses and actors presented their version of the play in Central Auditorium April 10 and 11.

The play centered around two young ladies who were taking a trip to Europe to become educated, but instead went man hunting. As the story unfolds many complications arise in which the girls become involved in many difficulties. Lorlei received an engagement ring from a very refined gentleman, and Dorothy became interested in Sam who was just an ordinary young man. Add to this situation the pawning of the ring in a pawnshop, detectives searching the room of the girls, the reunion of Aunt Dolly and Father, and finally marriage plans and you have an idea of what was presented in the play.

high life

Knee deep in printers ink and copy paper, the twenty-eight members of this year's High Life staff have worked to get out each issue on time. Familiar cries such as "I'm next at the typewriter." - - - "This story's too short." - - - "Isn't the galley back yet?" - - - "Where's some copy paper?" - - - "I can't find a head." - - - "This is a scoop," and "Buy your High Life, only a dime" are to be heard as deadline approaches.

This year the Chief Editor was Susan Buchanan, and the Sports Editor was Larry Moudy.

cauldron

Sixteen people have been working together for the realization of a dream, the 1958 Cauldron. After a theme was chosen, they began getting pictures, choosing a cover, writing copy, pasting pictures, and selling in home rooms. Due to the efforts of the editor, Karen Bowen, assistant editor, Lee Jennings and the staff, their dream has become a reality. The sponsor was Raymond Rohrabough.

crowning of the queens

The band marched in followed by an array of beautiful girls in shiny convertibles. Lovely Judii reigned as the 1958 football queen.

The girls in red and white formals keeping in harmony with the theme of Valentine Day were escorted onto the floor by the Hi-Y ushers. There was great suspense as Dick Manning flipped the coin to name Norma Moore as runner up and Carol Lukasik as the 1958 basketball queen.

Students rushing home to change to their party clothes, the casting of their ballots at the door, and the exchanging of good luck: This is the Coronation Ball. Pretty little Sara Jane Spray and Milo Eldridge added to this as they carried the crowns for Gary Kimble and Miss Norma Moore.

Beautiful girls in pastel formals were in shiny convertibles to their places of honor. Charming Miss Norma Moore and her attendants presented ribbons to the 1958 track winners.

The Hot Dogs led by co-Captains Gary Kimble and Harry Grafton and fourteen returning lettermen fought very hard this year to bring home two victories. Although it is a rather unimpressive record, it is commendable considering the competition which included some of the best teams in the state, and is a step in the right direction for F.H.S.'s rebuilding process.

During the season, the Hot Dogs defeated archrival Kirklin 26-13 and brought home the first North Central Conference victory in four years by defeating Logansport 13-7. The team broke another old jinx by scoring against Jeff of Lafayette for the first time since 1948. Coaches McLane and Henninger have brought the Hot Dogs a long way and should be congratulated. Since there were only six seniors, who were: Dave Kennedy, Harry Grafton, Gary Kimble, Larry Calloway, Jim Stevens, and Harold Stewart, the prospects for next season are the brightest in many a year.

logansport game highlights

The best game of the season was played at Logansport. The Hot Dogs' ground and aerial attack plus rugged determination gave the Hot Dogs the first Conference victory since '53. The highlight of the game was the 70-yard gallop by Harry "Bones" Grafton.

After the football season, the attention of sports fans switched to "The Hoosier Hysteria," basketball. The Hot Dogs, with five returning lettermen, fought hard all season for 'Ole F.H.S. The five returning lettermen consisted of four seniors and one junior: Larry Moudy, Tim Unger, Raymond Wilson, Harry Grafton, and Jay Kelly.

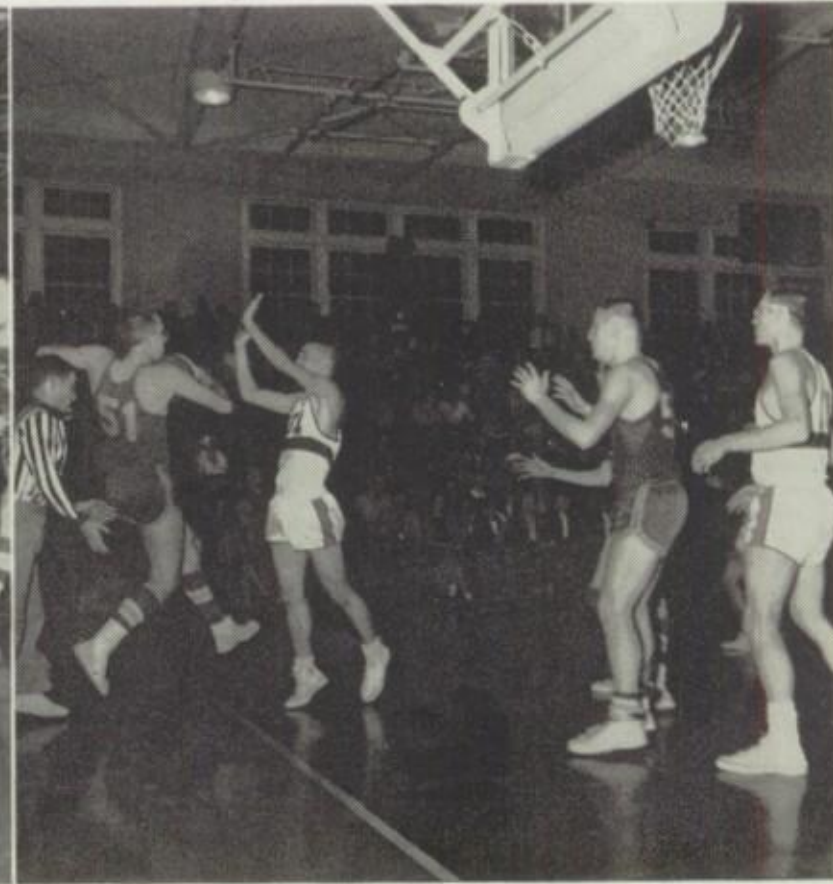

Among the most memorable experiences of the '58 season, were the Dogs' early season defeat of Crawfordsville, runnerup in the State finals; and the near upset, 40-39, of traditional rival Lafayette Jeff. The Hot Dogs also surprised Logansport in their own Berry Bowl by downing them.

After the regular season, the team went into the Sectional determined to win but lost to the Rossville Hornets in the championship game, 51-46. Congratulations to Laarry Moudy, who was elected to the All N.C.C. team two years in a row. He had a 20.3 shooting average.
